

The Anglican Mission Agencies have a very important role in the Church of England's international relationships. Each of the Agencies works in different ways. Some work overseas and some work only in the UK. Others work internationally and at home. Some work among specific groups such as young people and seafarers. Other Agencies support churches through sending people and making grants.

The ten major Anglican Mission Agencies are:

- Church Army
- The Church's Ministry Among Jewish People \(CMJ\)
- Church Mission Society
- Church Pastoral Aid Society \(CPAS\)
- Crosslinks
- Intercontinental Church Society \(ICS\)
- The Mission to Seafarers
- Mothers' Union
- The Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge \(SPCK\)
- United Society Partners in the Gospel \(USPG\)

Source URL: https://www.churchofengland.org/resources/world-mission/mission-agencies