

Foreword

Introduction

Church Statistics 2008/9 continues to expand measures of participation and affiliation collected by Church of England dioceses parishes and cathedrals. These measures are designed to reflect contemporary lifestyles and must be interpreted against the background of a growing number of government and other independent national surveys. National surveys continue to broadly endorse the 2001 government census results that indicate a continuing majority of the English population to be Christian. In summary, 72% of the population of England indicated their religious affiliation to be Christian, 6% of other faiths, 14% of no religion and 8% did not state their religion. Plans for the 2011 census will facilitate direct comparisons at national and lower geography levels.

In a pluralistic society, Christian denominations continue to play a significant role in the life of the nation. Approaching half of the adult population regards itself as Anglican (Opinion Research Business national poll 2009). Church Statistics 2008/9 provides more detailed geographical evidence of the continued involvement of the Church of England in the everyday lives of men, women and children at the beginning of the twenty-first century. This builds on similar information first published in Church Statistics 2002 and continues to be facilitated by the successful completion of the digitisation of the parish boundaries sponsored jointly by the Church of England dioceses and the Church Commissioners.

New attendance statistics

Following a major review of annual statistical information collection from parishes, new attendance measures were designed with dioceses during the summer of 2000. These are generally based on a four week count by parishes of their attendance levels at church worship in October. There is no single period in the year when church attendance could be said to be 'normal' or even 'average' but October is accepted across the Church of England and by our ecumenical partners as the easiest and most comparable month in which to carry out this quantitative exercise.

It would be wrong to make direct comparisons between the number counted in church services across October and the figures that churches have traditionally estimated as their “usual Sunday attendance”. Examination of the attendance levels collated in this publication in ‘All age church attendance 2000 to 2008’ and ‘Parochial Church attendance 2000 to 2008,’ reveal a larger church and fairly static levels of church attendance. On average 1.1 million people attended church-based services of worship each week in 2008, slightly under one million of these on Sundays. Numbers fluctuated week by week, among adults on average doubling at points across the month while almost quadrupling among children and young people. Statistics included here show that young people and children are attending church and church related activities in significant numbers. Across a typical month in the year parish church and cathedral worship attracted 1.7 million people but only 1.3 million of these attended on Sundays. The Church is indeed a seven days a week Church, and in recent years a similar proportion (a third) of dioceses have seen increases in their all age church attendance levels as mapped in the ‘All age church attendance 2008.’

National surveys indicate that 17% of adults in Britain attend religious services at least once every month (ORB Survey 2009). We are adapting the annual church attendance counts to include attendance at fresh expressions of church and also beginning to monitor attendance at chapels in universities and other places of worship. The growing ministry of chaplains in shopping centres, hospitals and other places has yet to be numerically reflected.

Easter and Christmas are festivals in the Christian year when traditionally many attend special occasions of worship in our parish churches and cathedrals. Charts of cathedral worship included for the first time reveal steadily increasing numbers throughout the year. On Christmas Day/Eve 2008 2.6 million people attended church and cathedral worship, while 1.4 million attended on Easter Day. The importance of these Christian festivals in people’s lives is evident in that Christmas services attracted over twice the average weekly attendance of our parish churches and cathedrals. Figures collected in previous years were directly comparable. In 2009, 35% of adults in Britain attended a Christmas service and 24% an Easter service (ORB Survey 2009).

Occasional offices

The church has traditionally monitored electoral roll and baptism levels, but from 2000 parishes and cathedrals has been asked to estimate the number of occasions where people received direct pastoral contact through each of the occasional offices. Marriages can be performed in recognized places other than churches and cathedrals. The tables 'Total marriages in England' and 'First marriages, England and Wales' (based on local authority registrars' returns) indicate that just under a quarter of marriages were performed by Church of England ministers. Local churches had significant opportunities for mission and ministry through over 390,900 occasional offices performed by their ministers in 2008. Funerals account for approaching half of these which is a significant pastoral load for many clergy. The table 'Parochial marriages and funerals 2008' shows that 39% of deaths in England are marked with Church of England funerals. Baptisms and thanksgivings represented over a third of the occasional offices, marriages and blessings of civil marriages about one in seven. At these essentially family and community events, local churches have unique opportunities for contact among a wide constituency and national public attitude surveys show this to be valued by the Christian public. In 2009, 56% of adults in Britain attended a religious service for a funeral, 44% to celebrate a wedding and 36% a baptism/christening (ORB Survey 2009).

Licensed Ministers

All God's people are called to exercise their ministry in his world and in his Church. The statistics of this report relate to ministries which are nationally licensed. Reflecting the older demographic profile of the adult population the number of stipendiary clergy has dropped since the turn of the millennium. This is projected to continue at a similar level with the net loss over the period 2009 to 2013 approaching 600 from a current total of 8,250 FTE. (These figures include clergy with full-time appointments and those with part-time appointments aggregated to their full-time equivalents. Europe, due to the special nature of its chaplaincies, is excluded.) These projections take into account the expected number of ordinations to stipendiary ministry. This figure stood at 309 in 2009. It is estimated to remain fairly static at 317 in 2010 and 311 in 2011. For the years 2012 onwards a moving average of the previous three years ordination figures has been used. The number of people entering stipendiary ministry is not sufficient to replace those who are retiring. Detailed figures on the age structure are contained in 'Clergy age profiles and age structure' tables.

Among those licensed as unpaid ministers attached to parishes, the increasing number of self-supporting ministers including ordained local ministers stood at 3,100 in 2009, an increase of nearly 50% between 2000 and 2009. Dioceses benefit from a growing number of lay ministers and retired clergy. However across the country the number of licensed readers has decreased by almost 14% over the same period. In 2009 there were 7,472 licensed readers, (excluding readers with permission to officiate and active emeriti).

The number of women clergy, stipendiary and non-stipendiary, continues to rise. In 2009 there were 1,649 women in full-time stipendiary diocesan appointments compared with 1,466 in 2005 and 1,140 in 2000, generating a rise of approaching a half (45%) (these figures include the Diocese in Europe). Women make up one in five (20%) of stipendiary parochial clergy. Out of every eight incumbents one is a woman (13%). The equivalent figure including clergy of incumbent status is more than one in five clergy (17%). Of a total of 358 dignitaries in 2009, 32 were women, nine more than 2005 and twenty more than 2000. Women in self-supporting ministry in 2009 made up over half (51%) of the total. For licensed readers the equivalent proportion 49%.

The Church also benefits from the ministry of 341 licensed lay workers and Church Army evangelists, of whom 30 are ordained; 472 professed members of religious communities, of whom 87 are ordained, and 1,243 chaplains working with mission agencies, the armed services, in hospitals, prisons, schools, higher and further education. In each of these categories of ministry there are fewer people than in 2000. At the turn of the millennium there were 257 Church Army evangelists, 729 professed members of religious communities and 1,258 chaplains. A further 271 self-supporting clergy minister within dioceses but outside the formal parochial system.

Since 1994 when all categories of licensed ministry were opened to men and women, the total number of those entering licensed ministry in the Church of England (clergy ordinations and reader admissions combined) has fallen (by 10%) similar levels, falling only slightly, (by 5%) from 1038 to 922 in 2009. Over the same period, the total number of ordinations has risen by 39% from 405 in 1994 to 564 in 2009 while the number of reader admissions correspondingly decreased by 43% from 633 in 1994 to 358 in 2009. In particular, the number of people ordained to stipendiary ministry has remained similar at 316 in 1994 and 309 in 2009 compared with approaching a three-fold increase in non-stipendiary ordinations (89 in 1994 to 255 in 2009). In addition, it is worth noting that just over half (55%) of those ordained in 2009 entered stipendiary ministry compared to 48% in 2007 and over three quarters (78%) in 1994.

The average age of full-time stipendiary diocesan clergy is 51 years and one in five (22%) of full-time stipendiary diocesan clergy are aged 60 and over. Two-thirds (66%) are aged between 40 and 59 years, and 12% under 40. The average age of self-supporting diocesan clergy is 58 years while half (50%) of self-supporting ministers (including OLM's) and 51% licensed readers are aged 60 and over. The majority of the remaining half are in the 40 to 59 age group leaving just 3% of self-supporting ministers and less than 3% of readers under 40.

The total number of recommendations for training for ministry was 491 in 2009, 104 less than in 2007 and with 286 (58%) under 40 years of age.

The number of readers in training has fallen by approaching a third (30%) since 2000 from 1,315 to 926 in 2009.

Financial giving

In the autumn of 2008, the “Credit Crunch” hit the UK economy. For many in the charitable sector, there was an immediate and significant financial impact. However, thanks to the commitment of church givers, 2008 parish incomes managed to increase when compared with the previous year, to £925 million. A 1.3% increase in donor income was the smallest percentage increase for many years, but this should be seen positively, given the wider economic picture and the downturn seen in the wider charitable sector.

Regular, planned giving continues to be the core of church finances. In 2008, parishes received over £296 million from 628,000 givers (or more precisely giving units where some will represent two donors) at an average of £9.06 per week. Most of these givers are able to give through Gift Aid, and over £80 million was reclaimed by parishes from HMRC.

Income received by parishes in 2008 from legacies again reached record levels. The size of the average gift has again increased, and it should be noted that the number of legacies for 2007 and 2008 appears low due to a change in the data collection questionnaire in 2007. This now asks for each legacy to be recorded only once, even if income is received in more than one financial year.

Income from dividends, interest and property rose by over 10% for the second year running, with parishes receiving £58 million. This is expected to decline in 2009 and 2010, due to lower interest rates and stock market returns.

Outward giving from PCCs to mission organizations and other charities was £52 million, a very significant contribution to wider mission and charitable work. Parish Share contributions just fell short of £300 million, and there was £194 million of capital expenditure.

Summary

Today people support their local churches, chapels and cathedrals in many different ways. A national opinion survey in October 2009 by Opinion Research Business confirmed that since the turn of the millennium 85% of adults visit a local church or chapel every year for a wide range of activities alongside attendance at church worship. While the quantitative information is not fully comprehensive, it does provide a healthy picture of the variety of local church life. Church attendance patterns, the role of the occasional offices, the increased diversity of ordained and lay ministries, financial giving and other measures of church support are all continuing to evolve at the turn of the millennium in ways which are beginning to capture the interest of many serious religious commentators.

We are particularly grateful to the dioceses and the parishes for continuing to embrace new aspects of the annual parochial return exercise. Their co-operation continues to remain crucial to the successful gathering of the information required for this publication, and we are encouraged that they too are finding the results useful for their own forward planning. This edition includes as much appropriate information as possible from the Diocese in Europe and from diocesan cathedrals.

1 The figures in brackets give rankings. Thus in terms of area, Bath and Wells is the 11th largest diocese, Birmingham is the 41st.

1 Since 1972 new electoral rolls have been prepared usually every 6 years. Such years are marked with an "R"

2 Before 1957 the minimum age for inclusion on the electoral roll was 18. From 1957-1980 the age was lowered to 17 after which it was reduced again to 16. Electoral roll figures for 1982 and previous years include some cathedral rolls. These have been excluded from the figures for later years.

3 The number of deaths are estimates based on Population Trends, Office for National Statistics

Church of England licensed ministries 2009

Licenses stipendiary clergy	8,591
Licenses self-supporting clergy	3,100
Chaplains and other ministries	1,631
Licenses layworkers and lay Church Army evangelists	341
Active retired ordained	4,610
Licensed Readers	7,472
Readers with permissions to officiate and active emeriti	2,584
Totals CHURCH OF ENGLAND	28,329

The figures for stipendiary clergy (full-time, part-time and including those outside the clergy share system) and for lay workers above are based on statistics derived from the central Church payroll. Details of chaplains and other ministers working outside the parish framework, and of non-stipendiary clergy, are based on statistics derived from the database used to compile Crockford's Clerical Directory. Where possible, they have been cross-referenced with material produced by organizing bodies (Church Army, the Home Office for prison chaplains, and the Hospital Chaplaincies Council for hospital chaplains).

The figure shown for active retired ordained clergy is an estimate of the number of licensed retired clergy who take an active part in ministry. It is based on the number of retired clergy known to have either permission to officiate, licence to officiate or actual appointments. Pension Board records indicated a total of 8,954 retired stipendiary clergy in 2009.

Notes:

- 1 The above figures include only those ministers who were working within the diocesan framework as at 31 December 2009
- 2 The Archbishop of Canterbury and ordained members of his staff at Lambeth Palace are classed as extra-diocesan and are not included in these figures.
- 3 Reader and Church Army figures do not include Readers with PTO or emeriti, or ordained Church Army evangelists.
- 4 Figures for stipendiary clergy and for lay workers are based on statistics derived from the central Church payroll.
- 5 Details of self-supporting clergy are based on statistics derived from the database used to compile Crockford's Clerical Directory. Where possible they have been cross-referenced with material produced by organising bodies.
- 6 Stipendiary clergy and lay workers are paid by central Church payroll. Self-supporting clergy (and Ordained Local Ministers) hold diocesan licenses with a role in parishes.
- 7 Dignitaries holding more than one dignity are included only in the higher ranking dignity.
- 8 Incumbent status includes Team Vicars, Priests-in-Charge and Curates-in Charge of Conventional Districts.

Notes:

- 1 The table does not include chaplains and other clergy counted elsewhere in the statistics; for example chaplains who have a diocesan appointment and are on the Church Commissioners' payroll.
- 2 Where an individual holds more than one appointment it has been a subjective decision as to where to place an individual. This means that there is inevitably some disparity between the above figures and those for previous years.
- 3 Apart from chaplains, ordained members of the teaching staffs of schools and colleges are not counted here, but are included within the self-supporting clergy figures.
- 4 'Other chaplains' includes full and part-time ordained staff of retreat houses, conference and healing centres, shrines, almshouses, missionary societies and communities.
- 5 'Other self-supporting clergy' includes: full and part-time ordained staff with either diocesan or non-diocesan appointments; some cathedral clergy; certain chaplains; and those who are not parish deployable but with licence to officiate or permission to officiate.
- 6 Of these, 81 are professed in vows and 2 are novices. There are an additional 390 lay members of religious communities who are professed in vows (32 men and 358 women).
- 7 In addition there are 131 accredited lay workers on the Church Commissioners' payroll (including some church army evangelists), 9 deaconesses, and a further 13 full-time clergy on the staff of Church House and Lambeth Palace.
- 8 The figures for chaplains and other ministers working outside the parish framework are based on statistics derived from the database used to compile Crockford's Clerical Directory (with the exception of religious communities and Church Army where data is collected from source). Where possible, they have been cross-referenced with material produced by organizing bodies (Ministry of Defence for the forces chaplains; Home Office for prison chaplains; Hospital Chaplaincies Council for hospital chaplains).
- 9 The above figures capture those in chaplaincy and other ministries as at 31 December 2009, except Hospital and healthcare chaplains, which is accurate as of April 2010.

Notes:

- The following tables are based on the numbers of clergy leaving and entering the clergy payroll (excluding the Diocese in Europe), which is held currently by the Church Commissioners. The losses and gains recorded include people that have moved to and from the Diocese in Europe, to and from posts which are funded by external agencies such as National Health Service Trusts, the Prison Service, mission agencies or schools, and between stipendiary and self-supporting ministry or full-time and part-time.

Notes:

1 Figures are rounded to the nearest 10 and figures may not add up as a result.

Projections are intended to show the results of letting present trends continue, rather than as explicit predictions of the future. They are calculated by considering past clergy losses and gains, together with the number of ordinations to stipendiary ministry anticipated for 2010 and 2011, and applying them to the actual numbers of stipendiary clergy in post on 31st December 2009. After comparing the actual outturns with earlier projections for the same year, the mechanism is reviewed to reduce sources of inaccuracy.

Estimates of retirement patterns take the age profile of present clergy into account and consider what proportion of clergy of similar age have retired in recent years. Because of a high proportion of clergy born shortly after 1945, retirements are expected to rise until 2012 and remain high thereafter. The annual losses in clergy numbers due to deaths in service and resignations are likely to decrease because they are dependent on the decreasing number of clergy at the start of the year.

Ordination numbers are estimated several years ahead in consultation with the theological institutions and dioceses and there will be factors influencing these figures that cannot be anticipated at this stage. The most recent information available anticipates 317 candidates will complete training in 2010 and 311 in 2011. A small allowance is made for a proportion to defer their entry into stipendiary ministry. From 2012, a moving average of stipendiary ordination figures starting from three past years and two anticipated years has been used.

The greatest uncertainty comes from movements into and out of stipendiary ministry aside from ordination, death and retirement. Some resign and leave completely. For others, there is two-way exchange with self-supporting ministry, chaplaincy, other provinces and the Diocese in Europe. Other clergy are remaining stipendiary but for altered hours. These projections apply a combined moving average of all such movements to future years. As transfers to self-supporting ministry and part-time working become increasingly prevalent, it may be that the projection mechanism will need to be refined to deal specifically with them.

The average age of ordinands to stipendiary ministry has risen since 1999 from 40 to 43 for women and from 35 to 38 for men. These projections assume that the ages will not rise any further, but the situation is continually reviewed.

If present trends continue, there will be fewer clergy in stipendiary ministry in future years. Numbers of women are expected to remain steady for several years but the decline will come especially from the high numbers of men reaching retirement age. In contrast, the number of non-stipendiary clergy continues to increase, gaining both new ordinations and former stipendiary clergy.

- Figures in "Real terms" have been adjusted by the Retail Price Index to reflect 2008 purchasing power.
- "Total voluntary income" = "direct giving" (planned giving plus church collections and boxes) plus "other voluntary income" (all other voluntary income for ordinary expenditure excluding income tax, e.g. fund-raising events, net profit on magazine/bookstall, sundry donations.)
- "Total recurring income" = "total voluntary income" (see above) plus "other recurring income" (dividends and interest, recurring diocesan and other grants, and all other income for expenditure on ordinary purposes of the PCC, net surplus from church hall or other buildings, income from endowments or trust funds if used for ordinary purposes.)
- Tax efficient planned giving includes regular Gift Aid donations
- Unrestricted income is income that may be used by the PCC for general church expenses. Restricted income is income which may not be used for any purpose other than as specified by the donor. (Income which a PCC designates for a specified purpose is considered to be unrestricted, since the PCC and not the donor is determining how it is to be used.)
- Recurring income includes direct giving, other voluntary income and any other recurring income. "One off income" includes insurance claims, non-recurring grants, legacies, special appeals and the sale of fixed assets.

- 1 The total recurring income for the Diocese in Europe was £8,350,674 in 2007 and £10,183,076 in 2008.
- 2 "Total voluntary income" = "direct giving" (planned giving plus church collections and boxes) plus "other voluntary income" (all other voluntary income for ordinary expenditure excluding income tax, e.g. fund-raising events, net profit on magazine/bookstall, sundry donations.)
- 3 "Total recurring income" = "total voluntary income" (see above) plus "other recurring income" (dividends and interest, recurring diocesan and other grants, and all other income for expenditure on ordinary purposes of the PCC, net surplus from church hall or other buildings, income from endowments or trust funds if used for ordinary purposes.)
- 4 "Unrestricted income" is income that may be used by the PCC for general church expenses. "Restricted income" is income which may not be used for any purpose other than as specified by the donor. (Income which a PCC designates for a specified purpose is considered to be unrestricted, since the PCC and not the donor is determining how it is to be used.)
- 5 "Recurring income" includes direct giving, other voluntary income and any other recurring income. "One off income" includes insurance claims, non-recurring grants, legacies, special appeals and the sale of fixed assets.
