

Church Commissioners for England

scroll down

The Church Commissioners support the Church of England's work and mission, helping it to remain a Christian presence in every community. The Commissioners enable the Church to facilitate its growth, contribute to the common good and reimagine ministry through its sustainable approach to ethical and responsible investments.

The Commissioners manage an £9.2bn investment fund. The money they make from those investments contribute to the cost of mission projects, dioceses in low-income areas, bishops, cathedrals, and pensions. The Church Commissioners also provide administrative support for Church.

We contribute about £300million every year to various parts of the Church of England, more than 15% of to the Church's annual running costs, and makes us among the largest charitable givers in the UK.

Who we are

We are committed to good governance and accountability.

Find out more

What we do

We fund mission in churches, dioceses and cathedrals.

Find out more

How we invest

We manage an £9.2bn investment fund in an ethical and responsible way.

Find out more

Source URL: <https://www.churchofengland.org/about/leadership-and-governance/church-commissioners>