We give you thanks, O God, we give you thanks, for your name is near, as your wonderful deeds declare.

I will seize the appointed time; I, the Lord, will judge with equity.

Though the earth reels and all that dwell in her, it is I that hold her pillars steady.

To the boasters I say, “Boast no longer,” and to the wicked, “Do not lift up your horn.

“Do not lift up your horn on high; do not speak with a stiff neck.”

For neither from the east nor from the west, nor yet from the wilderness comes exaltation.

But God alone is judge; he puts down one and raises up another.

For in the hand of the Lord there is a cup, well mixed and full of foaming wine.

He pours it out for all the wicked of the earth; they shall drink it, and drain the dregs.

But I will rejoice for ever and make music to the God of Jacob.

All the horns of the wicked will I break,
but the horns of the righteous shall be exalted.
