

Gaining traction in many parts of the country is the As One vision, which is bold, large scale, tried and tested (based on Birmingham's 2018-20 'Permission to Smile' campaign) and yet finds its best expression through the ordinary parish church. This is an outreach which, experience shows, will be responded to with open arms, even by people who wouldn't normally be open to the local church, because the church is acting as the local arm of a high profile partnership including schools, GPs, council and others. And it gives church members the opportunity to be 'salt and light', long term, through building relationships with the people they live amongst.
