

It's a great moment to stand with our local communities and pause for a minute at noon, perhaps send a simple prayer card to a grieving family, or bless your local care home with kindness. The message is framed as reflect, support and hope, which also provides a way for churches to share prayers and thoughts on social media and with families on that day.

A small selection of resources will be available from 9th March including a simple family prayer. Look out for more ideas on Marie Curie's website as well as the Church of England. There will be TV and radio advertising for the day, and widespread media coverage.
