A message to remember them by:

" A truly remarkable man who has done so much for this country. I offer my sincere condolences, love and strength to the Queen and her family at this very sad time. What a remarkable life you have had inspiring so many people around the world and making a difference to the planet. I have been a long-standing member of the WWF and completed the D of E scheme - a love for both which has passed to my children and hopefully they will to theirs. A wonderful legacy you created - rest in peace dear man X "

" Prince Philip has been a sterling example of constancy, service and duty and an outstanding support to her Majesty throughout her reign, and he must have put his family before his own needs many times to do so, as a good father would. 73 years of married life is a wonderful example to us all. He was a real person, outspoken at times, only human, but devoted to his chosen life. May his soul rest in peace and his memory remain green. "
