

The Liturgical Commission prepares forms of service and promotes the development and understanding of liturgy and its use in the Church.

The Commission has four primary functions:

- To prepare forms of service at the request of the House of Bishops and for its consideration;
- To advise on the experimental use of forms of service and the development of liturgy
- To exchange information and advice on liturgical matters with other Churches both in the Anglican Communion and elsewhere;
- To promote the development and understanding of liturgy and its use in the Church.

All of the Common Worship texts and the Book of Common Prayer can be found under the Prayer and Worship webpages.
