

Three smiling bridesmaids in blue under rainbow umbrellas

“We always wanted to get our family and friends involved in our wedding,” said Caroline, who married Charlie at St Anne’s and All Saints Church in Lambeth, London.

In fact, the help and support of the couple’s guests turned out to be their greatest wedding gift.

“We couldn’t spend thousands on the wedding, so family and friends helped us prepare by doing things like making balloon trees for the reception and making the wedding invitations,” said Caroline.

As the couple’s flat was so close to the church, they decided to walk. Caroline’s family walked with her, along with a hired steel band. The slight drizzle on the day meant they had to use umbrellas, but they chose rainbow-bright colours for a truly jazzed up “Lambeth walk”.

“My late granddad loved lively music, so this walk to church was a way we could include his memory,” said Caroline.

Charlie and Caroline love their local church and have been going for many years. Unusually for a wedding, they took communion as part of the service, (this is called a full nuptial mass).

Many of their friends and family had a special role in the wedding, either in the ceremony or in the reception and planning – even the wedding cake was made by Caroline’s mother.

Their reception was a barbeque at a nearby school catered by a local chef – another friend. The local pub, Nolan’s, brought along a portable bar for them until the celebrations went on late into the night with karaoke in the pub itself.

Caroline added: “We love this part of London, we know so many people here and we’d got to know many people through the church as well. To have so many of them giving their time and energy in all sorts of ways made our wedding day so special and unforgettable.”

Also in this section

A wide angle shot of a wedding showing lots of guests and bunting

We had our reception in church too

A bride and groom with a country landscape behind them

We wanted to say “thank you” to our wonderful vicar

A bride surrounded by biker friends

More revs than one at our biker wedding!

A bride and groom smiling at the front of church

Our pandemic wedding was so special

A bride and groom laughing after their wedding

Image not found or type unknown

We had two months to prepare for our pandemic wedding!

A newly married couple in the wedding car

Image not found or type unknown

Church just felt the right place to be

A wedding couple kissing outside the football ground

Image not found or type unknown

We fell in love with our football church

A newly married couple outside the church

Image not found or type unknown

We discovered the church on our doorstep

A smiling bride and groom

Image not found or type unknown

Thank you for our perfect church wedding

Source URL: <https://www.churchofengland.org/life-events/your-church-wedding/real-weddings/our-wedding-was-gift-our-guests>