The Church of England
Pensions Board

We provide retirement services set by the Church of England for those who have served or worked for the Church

Review
2014
Introduction from the Chairman

A common theme of the Board’s work in 2014 was “taking risk off the table”. We have taken decisions to create a more stable environment for our two largest pension funds, as well as ensuring that our retirement housing provision will be sustainable for future generations.

At the General Synod in July, we announced important changes to our main retirement housing offer - the CHARM scheme’s rental arm - to provide a better experience for our current and future customers. The rental scheme is taken up by 20-30% of retiring clergy who have not been able to make their own retirement housing provision; it is an important aspect of the retirement services we offer.

In announcing these changes, we recognised that we had a duty to ensure that our housing offer was affordable and transparent for all. This included those who funded the offer through the General Synod as well as those who took up the offer of accommodation. Details of the changes, which followed an extensive period of consultation and took effect in April 2015, are set out on our website www.cepb.org.uk.

In addition to making the changes to our housing offer, we have been working on a new source of long-term finance for the CHARM scheme to complement and diversify our current funding facility. We anticipate making an announcement on this by the middle of 2015.

On the pensions front, we took two important decisions to provide a more stable environment for the employers participating in our schemes, and to reinforce the security of the schemes for members. The first of these was a “buy-in” of a proportion of the liabilities in the defined benefit section of the Church Workers Pension Fund (CWPF). This was akin to buying an insurance contract which covered the pensions of a proportion of the CWPF’s members and provided them with enhanced security. It also provided greater stability to the employers participating in the fund.

The CWPF is our most complex fund and provides a service to a large number of Church-related employers including dioceses, cathedrals and parishes. During the year we put in place a new section of the scheme which met the “auto-enrolment” requirements of the Pensions Act 2008. We also worked on the valuation of this scheme, which was concluded early in 2015.

Secondly, it has been our intention to switch over a period of time some of the assets of the Church of England Funded Pensions Scheme (CEFPS) from return-seeking assets (e.g. equities) to those which matched the scheme’s liabilities (e.g. bonds), but the price of bonds had made this difficult. Whilst we had been able to make small switches, the circumstances were right to make a larger switch late in the year. The decision reduced investment risk in the fund, and thereby should provide more stability for the employers participating in it.

During 2015, we will be focusing on the staff pension fund and preparing for the clergy funded scheme’s valuation at the end of the year. We will seek to better understand our customers and their expectations, and work closely with the employers, dioceses and all our partners to continue to improve on the delivery of our services.
