CHURCH STATISTICS

Some facts and figures
about the Church of England

Please note

- This is a scanned copy of a historical report.
- Some numbers will have been updated since publication, owing to incorporation of late returns and corrections; please check more recent publications for any changes.
- Diocesan-level figures relate to diocesan boundaries at the time.
- Ways in which data are presented have changed over time; not everything in this document is necessarily presented the way that we would choose to do it today.

THE CENTRAL BOARD OF FINANCE OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND

Church's ministry as a whole. This is shown in the piechart on page 16. We expect to be able to refine these figures in future editions.

Membership

1992 was a mixed year from the point of view of membership. There was certainly growth in some areas: Easter Day communicants and baptisms other than infants increased by three per cent each. Communicants on a normal Sunday were virtually unchanged and the electoral roll numbers showed a 1.5 per cent rise: not unusual for the second year stage in the six-year life of the rolls. Other statistics tended to reinforce the gentle downward trends of recent years, although in some cases it would not be difficult to cite extenuating circumstances. Infant baptisms were down by five per cent from 1991, as compared with a very slight drop in live births, but the figures may in part be affected by clergy who have strong views against baptising infants. In contrast to Easter, Christmas communicants dropped by nearly seven per cent, possibly due to adverse weather conditions. Indeed, the 1992 figures for Easter were greater than for Christmas for the first time since the 1970s. More difficult to explain is a drop in usual Sunday attendances, which decreased by just over one per cent and in doing so breached the "2.4 per cent of population" figure that it had held for the previous five years. It now stands at 2.3 per cent. Justifying our cautious welcome at the time, the 1992 rise in confirmation figures has not been sustained in 1993. It must again be stressed that these overall figures conceal quite wide variations between dioceses which show up in the individual tables.

Finance

Parochial finances in 1992 were more encouraging. Clearly, the figures are too early to reflect changes resulting from the reduced contributions of the Church Commissioners. Giving levels, although increasing at a rate significantly above that of the Retail Price Index, are still very modest, as Tables 21 to 23 show, and some substantial increases will be required over the next few years if the Church of England is to be able to honour its commitment to continue maintaining a country-wide parochial ministry. Nevertheless, there are grounds for optimism. In 1990 the amount given directly to Parochial Church Councils for the routine year-to-year running of their parishes failed - just - to keep pace with inflation. In 1991, it was two per cent above inflation; in 1992 four per cent. In 1992 Planned, and particularly tax-efficient, giving increased over the previous year by seven per cent above inflation. Clearly, the trends are in the right direction.

DEFINITIONS

Income

In the tables relating to finance, components of income and expenditure are defined as follows:

Total planned giving	- net covenants including regular Gift Aid donations and non-covenanted planned giving.
Total direct giving	- planned giving plus church collections and boxes.
Other voluntary income	- all other voluntary income for ordinary expenditure excluding direct giving and income tax on covenants. e.g. fund-raising events, net profit on magazine/bookstall, sundry donations.
Total voluntary income	- direct giving plus income tax on covenants plus other voluntary income.
Other ordinary income	- dividends and interest, recurring diocesan and other grants, and all other income for expenditure on ordinary purposes of the PCC, net surplus from church hall or other buildings, income from endowments or trust funds if used for ordinary purposes.
Total ordinary income	- total voluntary income plus other ordinary income.

Expenditure

The Church Overseas	- payments to : (a) the recognised missionary societies, or other overseas missions, diocesan associations Diocesan Mission Councils. (b) Christian organisations primarily concerned with relief and development.
Home Missions	- payments to home missions and other Church societies and organisations, (including the Church Urban Fund).
Other Charities	- payments to other charities which are secularly based.
Total ordinary expenditure	- the total of ALL expenditure for the ordinary purposes of the PCC. i.e. excluding only non-recurring items of capital expenditure and non-revenue items.

The term "church member" when related to giving (Tables 22, 23, 27 and 28) is defined as :
two thirds (adult usual Sunday attendances) plus one third (electoral roll membership).

Please also note that :

1. Many figures in this booklet have been rounded, and that in general totals, percentages and averages were calculated before rounding. Hence row and column totals will not always agree exactly with the sum of the stated amounts.
2. Among the 13,000 parishes of the Church of England there are a number of Local Ecumenical Projects in some (around 300) of which there is a congregation and a ministry shared between the Church of England and certain other churches. In such circumstances it is not always possible (or indeed desirable) to isolate the Anglican component of the congregation. The parochial membership figures will therefore include a small element which may appear also in the statistics of other churches.
3. Where figures are not available for any reason, "n.a." appears in the tables.

5 Chaplaincies and other stipendiary ordained ministries 1993/4

The table below brings together figures of full- or part-time stipendiary clergy working in some specialised ministries, usually outside the diocesan framework. The figures come from different sources and were as at different dates in the period. They are not in all cases complete, and should not be used for detailed comparisons. In particular, some chaplains in education enumerated here will also appear in other tables in the booklet.

The table shows the number of men, and from 1987 the additional number of women, ordained each year into the non-stipendiary ministry (NSM) and the local non-stipendiary ministry (LNSM). Numbers in columns 3 and 6 do not include those deacons who were previously deaconesses.

DEPLOYMENT OF THE CLERGY

Deployment Formula

Hitherto, stipendiary clergy have been apportioned among the dioceses by means of two separate sets of calculations: the "Sheffield" formula (men) and the "Lambeth" formula (women).

The "Sheffield" formula was devised by a Working Group appointed by the House of Bishops under the chairmanship of the then Bishop of Sheffield. It was first published in May 1974. The intention was to enable the Church, over a period of years, to use the manpower that was available in a manner which would ensure fairer shares as between dioceses than the existing distribution, based on historical patterns rather than present needs, provided. The "Lambeth" formula was approved by the House of Bishops in 1988, and had the same general aim.

Present circumstances differ in two substantial respects from those applying when the formulae were first used. In the first place, the ordination of women to the priesthood has removed the need and justification for separate formulae. Secondly, the under-supply of stipendiary clergy which originally motivated "Sheffield" is less evident. The signs are that, certainly for the next few years, there will be a considerably smaller gap between the number of vacant posts and the number of clergy available to fill them.

For these reasons, "Sheffield" and "Lambeth" are being phased out. Work on a new single deployment formula, which will include stipendiary clergy and licensed lay workers, men and women, is currently in hand. Until this is brought into use, the "Sheffield" formula will continue to be used, but will be calculated on the total number of full-time stipendiary clergy in post in the 43 dioceses (Europe, because of the special nature of its chaplaincies, is not included). As before, the calculation involves four factors, weighted as shown in the brackets:

- Diocesan population (8) to reflect the number of persons for whom a pastoral responsibility is assumed;
- Diocesan area (1) to reflect the larger distances to be covered in rural dioceses;
- Membership (3) to reflect the number of Church members to be cared for. It is measured by: one-third (Electoral Roll members) plus two-thirds (usual Sunday attendances, all ages).
- Number of churches (3) to reflect the number of services in different churches that need to be provided.

Shares under the formula are calculated from figures supplied by the Church Commissioners (see Table 8 opposite). The latest available statistics are used.

NOTES:

- * The figures for 1980 and later years in columns 3 to 5 of Table 30 are not directly comparable with those of previous years, because from 1978 the returns have specified infant baptisms as those under one year of age in order to relate more realistically to live births.
- # Before 1957 the minimum age for inclusion in the Electoral Roll was 18. From 1957-1980 the age was lowered to 17 after which it was reduced again to 16. Electoral Roll figures for 1982 and previous years include some cathedral rolls. These have been excluded from the figures for later years. Since 1972 new rolls have been prepared every 6 years. Entries for such years are shaded

- ~ Figures for 1994 are shown in Table 1. They are not wholly comparable with earlier years in that they exclude the Channel Islands (Winchester Diocese).
- Population figures in these tables are taken from information provided by the Office of Population Censuses and Surveys. Other statistics have been evaluated from the parish returns of membership and finance and from information obtained from the offices of the diocesan bishops.
- Figures for cathedrals and their daughter churches are included (but see Note 2 opposite).

SPECIAL

A survey of black Anglican parti-

In 1992, at the instigation of the Committee for Black Anglican Concerns, a questionnaire was distributed to all parishes in the Church of England with the aim of obtaining an estimate of the number of black Anglicans in the Church and an indication of the extent of their participation in the life of the Church (note 1). Approximately 60% of all parishes responded to the questionnaire and the report 'How We Stand' presents a detailed analysis of these replies (note 2).

The sample recorded a total of 13,278 adult black Anglicans attending a church service on a normal Sunday; from this it is estimated that about 15,800, that is 1.7% of the total adult attendance on a normal Sunday, will be black Anglicans. The sample also recorded a total of 8,102 black Anglican children attending church or Sunday school at least once a month on a regular basis. Based on this figure the estimate for the whole church is about 11,400, which represents approximately 5% of the total figure for children attending services on a normal Sunday (note 3).

Approximately one-third of replies received were from parishes with a level of black Anglican participation (note 4) and every diocese recorded some black Anglican members. The piechart opposite illustrates the dominant position of London and Southwark Dioceses in the survey.

Within the sample there were a total 12,633 black Anglicans recorded as being members of Electoral Rolls. This is less than the 13,278 figure for adult attendance on a normal Sunday. This contrasts with the corresponding statistic for church membership as a whole, where the total Electoral Roll figure is approximately one-and-a-half times the size of the adult Usual Sunday Attendance figure.

It was found that whilst the total number of black Anglicans recorded in the sample varied from diocese to diocese, the average number of adult black Anglicans per congregation showed little variation. Considering only those parishes with black Anglican participation, the average number of black Anglican members is 5.4 with only the dioceses of Southwark (13.9), London (18.4) and Birmingham (11.2) showing any significant difference. Of the 7,374 replies received 338 were from parishes with an adult attendance which reached double figures.

Tables (i) and (ii) opposite indicate some aspects relating to the extent of the participation of black Anglicans in the leadership of their churches.

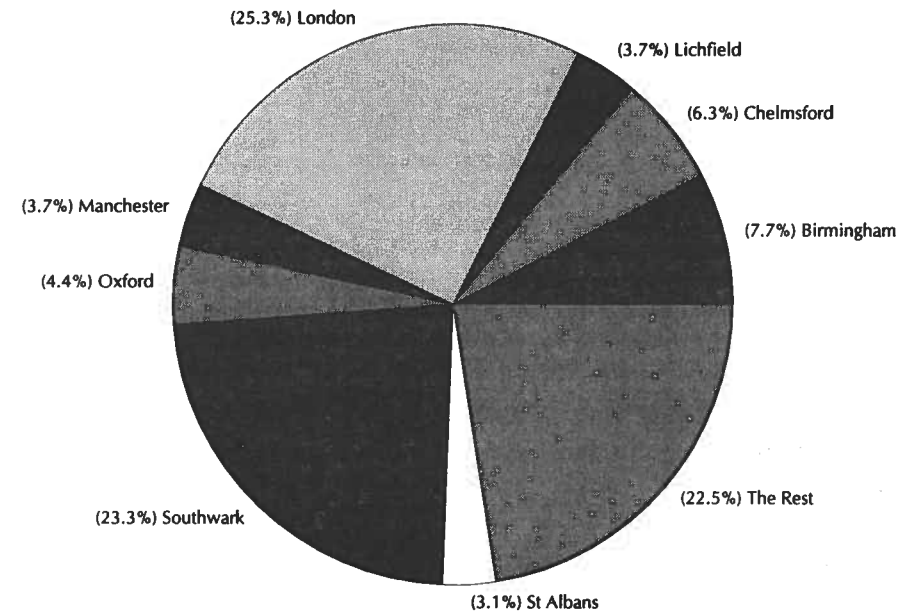

NOTES:

1. For the purpose of this survey the term 'black' was used in referring to people born either in Britain or overseas who are of Caribbean, African or Asian ethnic background.
2. The full report containing the complete tabulations of all the data is available from the Secretary of the General Synod's Committee on Black Anglican Concerns, Church House, Great Smith Street, London SW1P 3NZ.
3. In all comparisons with statistics for the whole Church, the figures relating to 1991 were used.
4. Any parish with black Anglican members (adult or child) was defined as having a black Anglican participation irrespective of the degree of that participation.

NOTES:

1. An age analysis of the confirmation candidates in 39 dioceses showed that of the total numbers confirmed in those dioceses in 1993, 17.8 per cent males and 17.5 per cent females were under 12 years of age, 41.7 per cent males and 35.2 per cent females were between 12 and 15 years, 6.5 per cent males and 5.5 per cent females were between 16 and 19 years and 34.0 per cent males and 41.8 per cent females were 20 years of age and over.
2. In 1993 39 per cent of all confirmation candidates were male and 61 per cent female.
3. Confirmations in the Armed Forces are not included.
