

Mission Development Funding: Analysis of Use in 2010

1. In 2001, the Archbishops' Council and the Church Commissioners jointly established the Parish Mission Fund whose aim was to provide additional resources for investment in local mission initiatives. It was renamed as the Mission Development Fund in 2007, the better to reflect the intentions of the funding.
2. Dioceses' shares of the funding are worked out by a formula which allocates on the basis of population, while also taking financial need into account. Dioceses have discretion to credit the funding to their clergy stipends accounts or invest it directly in new mission initiatives. Those that elect to credit their stipends account with the funding must certify that the money has been directed to the stipend costs of the most deprived parishes; those supporting mission initiatives are asked to supply the national Church with details of the projects to have benefited. In both cases dioceses must certify annually that the grants are being spent in line with section 67 of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners Act 1840 relating to the making of "additional provision for the cure of souls in parishes where such assistance is most required".
3. To date, almost £39 million has been distributed through this funding stream. The Council and Commissioners agreed last year spending plans in relation to the use of the funds managed by the Commissioners, including that the level of mission development funding should rise by 4% p.a. during that period.
4. A report is made to General Synod each July highlighting the various uses to which these monies have been put. Annex A gives an overview of the use of the funding by dioceses in 2010. Just over £ 4.5 million was spent on mission initiatives of which £0.6 million came from previous years' unspent money. A further £1.25 million was credited to diocesan stipends accounts.
5. Annex B shows the ways in which the £4.5 million of the funding disbursed on mission initiatives was used locally. The spending was broadly consistent with trends in previous years, with the funding applied to a wide range of activities from pioneer mission work and youth work to new equipment to help a church's mission focus. A third of the money invested in mission initiatives is spent on youth and children's work.
6. The Council and Commissioners have agreed to increase the dialogue with dioceses with unspent money in order to establish their plans for the use of it and the timescale over which it will be spent.
7. Following on from the 2008 report on the effectiveness of the funding, Investing in the Church's Growth, further evaluation work is being undertaken to ensure that the money is having the greatest possible impact on the Church's mission.
