

External Complaints Policy - Privacy Notice

The National Church Institutions (NCIs) are committed to protecting your personal data. Personal data is any information relating to an identified or identifiable person.

This privacy notice explains what to expect when the NCIs collect your personal information if you make a complaint in accordance with the External Complaints Policy and Procedure for the NCIs (the “Complaints Policy”).

1. Data controller(s)

The NCIs are the data controllers, and they are:

- The Archbishops' Council, The Church Commissioners for England, The Church of England Pensions Board, Church of England Central Services, The National Society (Church of England) for Promoting Religious Education
Church House, Great Smith Street, London, SW1P 3AZ
- The Archbishop of Canterbury (in his corporate capacity)
The Office of the Archbishop of Canterbury, Lambeth Palace, SE1 7JU
- The Archbishop of York (in his corporate capacity)
The Office of the Archbishop of York, Bishopthorpe Palace, Bishopthorpe
York, YO23 2GE

2. Why we process your personal data:

We process your personal data in order that we can assess, investigate, analyse and determine your complaint effectively in accordance with our Complaints Policy. We will only process your personal data for the purposes of complying with the Complaints Policy.

3. What information we will collect about you:

When you make a complaint under our Complaints Policy you may provide us with personal data. We may also ask for further information about you which tells us more about you or your complaint. For us to deal with your complaint effectively, we will collect the following information about you:

- Title
- First and last name
- Address and postcode
- Contact details such as email address and telephone number; and
- The specific details of your complaint

We may process special categories of personal data if it is relevant to your complaint. It is possible that your complaint may involve “special categories” of information, such as:

- Race
- Ethnic origin
- Politics
- Religion

- Health
- Sex life
- Sexual orientation
- Criminal convictions and offences, including criminal allegations.

4. The lawful bases for processing your personal information

We will process your personal data on the following lawful bases:

Personal data

- Legitimate Interest (Article 6(1)(f)) – If you raise a complaint with us, we have a legitimate interest in processing your personal data in order to investigate and resolve that complaint.

Because we consider that we have a legitimate interest in processing your personal data, we have undertaken a Legitimate Interests Assessment which sets out why we consider such processing is justified.

We have a specific purpose with a defined benefit	The purpose of the processing is to provide an explanation for and resolution to a complaint, so far as is possible, which is in the best interests of the data subject. Investigating and resolving the complaint also assists the NCIs to improve our services and helps to ensure that individuals are protected in future from, for instance, any failure to deliver services, malpractice or other seriously improper misconduct.
The processing is necessary to achieve the defined benefit.	Without processing the data, we would not be able to investigate and determine complaints and respond effectively to the data subject, nor make necessary changes and improvements to our service delivery.
The processing legitimately overrides the interests of the data subject and any risks to their rights or freedoms.	The processing does not pose any significant risk to the rights and freedoms of individuals, as they would reasonably expect such processing in order to resolve their complaints. All complaints will be dealt with confidentially, and only those authorised to manage a complaint will see the data.

Special categories and information relating to criminal convictions and offences

- Substantial public Interest (Article 9(2)(g))– We will only process any special category data which is relevant to your complaint in order that we can fully investigate a complaint in order to protect the public from dishonesty, malpractice or other seriously improper conduct; unfitness or incompetence; mismanagement or failures in any services provided by us in accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018, Schedule 1, Part 2 paragraph 11.

5. Who we collect from or share your information with:

We collect information about you in relation to your complaint from:

- You directly; and

- Any third party you mention in your complaint and is relevant to the investigation of your complaint.

We will not share your data with any other third parties except where specified here. We will be sharing your information with (where relevant):

- Any NCI staff who are responsible for handling your complaint under the Complaints Policy
- Any independent investigator appointed under the Complaints Policy to handle your complaint
- Any NCI staff who are relevant to the substance of your complaint
- Legal advisors
- Statutory and law enforcement authorities.

6. How long does the data controller keep your information?

Your information will be kept for 6 years from the cessation or determination of your complaint, unless it is required for legal purposes.

7. Your rights

You have the following rights regarding your personal data:

- The right to be informed about and request a copy of any personal data we hold about you;
- The right to request that we correct any personal data if it is found to be inaccurate or out of date;
- The right to request your personal data be erased where it is no longer necessary for us to retain such data;
- The right, where there is a dispute in relation to the accuracy or processing of your personal data, to request a restriction is placed on further processing;
- The right to object to the processing of your personal data.

To exercise these rights, please contact the Data Protection Team using the contact information provided below. The NCIs' Individual Rights Policy is available on request.
